

RELEASE

Paris, October 27, 2023

TRANSFER OF THE LIQUIDITY CONTRACT TO BNP PARIBAS ARBITRAGE

Following the acquisition of the Exane Group by the BNP Paribas Group and the transfer of market management activities from Exane to BNP Paribas Arbitrage, BNP Paribas Arbitrage has taken over the management of the Hermès International liquidity contract with effect from October 27, 2023.

This transfer has no impact on the terms of the Liquidity Contract nor on the resources allocated to its implementation and which are published in the half-yearly declarations.

<sup>1</sup> As a reminder and in accordance with French Financial Market Authority ("AMF") Decision No. 2021-01 of June 22, 2021, the conditions leading to its suspension or cessation are the following:

- In the event of holding a number of shares equal to the maximum decided by the General Meeting of Hermès International, taking into account in particular the shares already held by Hermès International, in accordance with article L. 22-10-62 of the French Commercial code;
- In the event the share is listed outside the intervention thresholds authorized by the General Meeting of Hermès International, and
- In the event of expiry or suspension of the authorization to purchase shares by the General Meeting of Hermès International.